ABOUT THE BOOK

Sikhism is one of the youngest and most vibrant religions of the world. Believing in a single formless God, the Sikhs are also renowned as formidably fierce and proud warriors. In recent years a huge amount of literature on various aspects of Sikhism has started appearing in books, newspapers and journal articles, research theses, conference proceedings etc. There exists no comprehensive and exhaustive bibliography of this literature to help the scholars. This work was conceived to fill this void and the end product covers an extensive literature survey of more than 4500 books, theses, newspapers and about one hundred research periodicals published in India and abroad upto 1988. The introductory chapter on 'Information sources on Sikh Studies' gives a detailed descriptive account of various reference sources available in this academic field. This chapter also gives information about the institutions, research journals and some famous scholars concerned with the study and research in Sikh Studies. The entries have been organised under sixteen Sikh Leaders. Sikh Scholars, Sikh Martyrs. Sikh Temples (Gurudwaras). Sikh Symbols and Rituals. Sikhs Abroad, Comparative Religion. Sikh Culture and Traditions, Sikh Educational and Social Organisations, Bhagats and Saints, and Miscellaneous Works. Under each chapter different subject headings and subheadings have been provided for the convenience of the users. This study will serve as an important reference source in the hands of scholars, teachers, librarians and information specialists interested in the study of Sikhism as an academic discipline.
